Secretary Message

I am pleased to present the Annual Report for the year 2024-25, a year marked by continued commitment, strengthened community relationships, and meaningful grassroots action by Veer Jharkhand Vikas Seva Manch. During this period, our team focused on addressing some of the most pressing issues faced by rural and marginalized communities. We worked closely with adolescent girls to improve awareness around personal health and hygiene, ensuring access to basic facilities and information in schools. Simultaneously, we reached out to vulnerable families to provide support in the form of essential resources, helping them navigate economic hardships with dignity. Our efforts also prioritized the well-being of children by addressing their educational and clothing needs, contributing to their overall development and encouraging school participation. Through creative and community-driven approaches, we engaged in widespread awareness-building activities across villages, ensuring that critical information about rights and entitlements reached those who need it most. As always, our approach remained grounded in local realities – led by the needs of the people, shaped by field experiences, and carried out with the active participation of the communities we serve. The dedication of our field team and the continued trust of the people remain our greatest strengths. We look ahead with renewed purpose, determined to continue our journey toward inclusion, justice, and sustainable rural development.

Who We Are

Veer Jharkhand Vikas Seva Manch (VJVSM) is a grassroots nonprofit organization based in Koderma, Jharkhand, committed to transforming the lives of marginalized, tribal, and underserved communities through rights-based and development-oriented interventions. Our Identity Founded by a group of socially conscious individuals inspired by the spirit of service, justice, and equity, VJVSM began its journey with a vision to build a just and inclusive Jharkhand. Rooted in the values of community empowerment and inspired by the valor of Jharkhand's freedom fighters, the organization has grown from a local initiative into a trusted development partner across multiple districts. Our strength lies in our deep engagement with the community and our unwavering belief that change must begin at the grassroots. Every project we undertake is shaped by local realities, driven by community participation, and aligned with the socio-cultural fabric of the region. What Makes Us Unique People-Centric Approach: We place the voices and aspirations of rural and tribal people at the heart of every initiative. Field-Driven Insights: Our work is informed by continuous field research, local knowledge, and lived experiences. Inclusive Development: We prioritize the most vulnerable—women, children, SC/ST groups, and persons with disabilities. Strong Rural Presence: We have a physical and emotional presence in the villages we serve, enabling trust and long-term impact.

Our Purpose At VJVSM, we believe that dignity, equality, and access to opportunities are not privileges, but rights that every citizen deserves. Our mission is to make these rights accessible by supporting communities through: Awareness generation Skill development Livelihood support Health and sanitation programs Education and child rights Environmental sustainability Linkages with government welfare schemes --- Our Community-Driven Philosophy We do not work for communities—we work with them. We build capacities of local leaders, form self-help groups, train village-level volunteers, and create platforms where people can claim their rights and influence local governance. From organizing Gram Sabha sensitizations to installing sanitary pad vending machines in girls' schools, we ensure that development is participatory, dignified, and empowering

Our Objective

- Empowering marginalized communities to access their socio-economic, cultural, political, and civil rights.
- Identifying and addressing key socio-economic challenges through research and field engagement.
- Implementing welfare and development programs in underserved and remote areas.
- Partnering with funding agencies to enhance the effectiveness and reach of community initiatives.
- Advancing sustainable development through community-led and participatory approaches.

Core Values

✓ RESPECT

We recognize and respect the local tradition and the culture of the community we serve.

✓ EMPOWERMENT

We are committed to empower rural people focusing on giving opportunities at every possible way.

✓ INCLUSIVITY

We strive to ensure that each and every person got a recognition in the society regardless of the caste, gender, religion.

✓ TRANSPARENCY

We uphold transparency in all operations, ensuring that processes are open and information is accessible to every stakeholder.

✓ SUSTAINABILITY

We focus on sustainable development of the community that can ensure long lasting positive change.

Areas of Intervention

In the year 2024–25, Veer Jharkhand Vikas Seva Manch (VJVSM) continued to build upon its strong foundation of community-centered development by sustaining and scaling up its key intervention areas.

1. Menstrual Hygiene Management Empowering adolescent girls

With generous support from the Linde Foundation, we expanded our menstrual health intervention in 7 Kasturba Gandhi Balika Vidyalayas (KGBVs) of Chatra district.

Installed two sanitary napkin vending machines and one incinerator in each of the 7 KGBVs. Conducted sessions on menstrual hygiene, breaking taboos, and fostering a culture of openness and dignity among adolescent girls. Ensured access to hygiene facilities so that menstruation no longer disrupts education. This project not only addressed hygiene but also contributed to girls' school retention, self-confidence, and health outcomes. We also engaged school staff and female wardens in orientation programs to create a supportive environment. Peer educators were selected and trained to promote sustainable menstrual hygiene practices. Feedback from students showed a noticeable shift in attitudes and increased awareness. The initiative is now being looked at as a replicable model for other districts.

2. Food Security & Household Essentials

Supporting vulnerable families with nutrition and clean energy Under our ongoing collaboration with the Jiv Daya Foundation, we responded to the continued need for basic food and energy resources in underserved communities of Koderma district: Distributed 30 kg of food grains to 150 individuals, focusing on tribal and economically weak households. Provided 25 solar lamps to families without regular access to electricity, ensuring light for children's studies, women's safety, and improved quality of life. These interventions brought immediate relief and long-term benefits, reducing energy poverty while enhancing food security. Additionally, awareness sessions were conducted on efficient food utilization and solar lamp maintenance to ensure sustainability. Community members shared how the lamps have helped extend productive hours in the evening. Local youth were engaged in the distribution process, strengthening community participation. This initiative has laid the groundwork for scaling up clean energy solutions and improving nutritional resilience.

3. Child Well-being & Educational Support Nurturing childhood

A total of 155 children between the ages of 6 months and 5 years were provided with a glass of milk six days a week through their local Anganwadi centres. This initiative was designed to address chronic undernutrition and support the healthy physical and cognitive development of children during their most formative years. The regular milk distribution also helped strengthen the role of Anganwadi centres as local hubs of early childhood care and nutrition. We also focused on improving their learning environment and self-esteem: Distributed shoes, socks, T-shirts, jackets with JDG logo, and trackpants to 75 children, many of whom come from remote tribal hamlets. Provided educational kits (notebooks, pens, pencils, bags) to 50 children to ensure they attend school with dignity and readiness. These initiatives helped reduce school absenteeism, boosted morale, and gave children a sense of inclusion and identity.

4. Nukkad Nataks for Rights Awareness Spreading awareness through creative and community-friendly mediums

With the active support of the Zila Jansampark Vibhag, we revitalized our popular Nukkad Natak (street play) campaign across various villages

These plays were conducted in local dialects, making the content more relatable, especially for women, elders, and youth.

The street plays successfully bridged the gap between policy awareness and practical access, empowering villagers to claim their entitlements. The campaign reached over 2,000 villagers across 15 locations, generating meaningful discussions and on-the-spot clarifications. Volunteers were stationed post-performance to distribute information leaflets and assist with form filling. Many attendees expressed gratitude for this creative, accessible form of civic education. The initiative has since inspired local youth groups to replicate similar performances independently.

Our Supporters

Partners in Progress, Pillars of Strength

The success of our efforts in 2024-25 would not have been possible without the support of our trusted partners. These institutions have stood with us as catalysts of grassroots transformation, enabling us to reach the most vulnerable with dignity and purpose.

1. Jiv Daya Foundation - We are deeply grateful to the Jiv Daya Foundation for its continued support in addressing the basic needs of underprivileged families and children. Their partnership allowed us to provide vital nutritional support and essential materials to those in remote and underserved areas. The Foundation's commitment to health, well-being, and child development was evident in their unwavering backing, which helped us respond promptly and compassionately to local challenges. Their support played a key role in improving household stability and giving children the resources they need to thrive.

2. Linde Foundation-- We extend our heartfelt thanks to the Linde Foundation for its focused support in the area of adolescent health and hygiene. With their assistance, we were able to enhance facilities in residential schools and conduct impactful awareness initiatives. Their investment in menstrual hygiene management helped us ensure that young girls in rural schools could manage menstruation safely, with dignity and confidence. The Foundation's emphasis on preventive care and education aligns deeply with our mission of inclusive rural development.

3. Zila Jansampark Vibhag We sincerely appreciate the collaboration with the Zila Jansampark Vibhag, whose support brought cultural vibrancy and awareness to our community outreach efforts. Through street plays and public performances, we were able to educate rural populations on government schemes and citizen rights in an engaging, relatable manner. Their cooperation helped us bridge the gap between policy and people, using local language and art to empower communities with knowledge.

4. We extend our deep appreciation to the Government of Jharkhand for its ongoing support and cooperation. As a key institutional partner, the state government has played an important role in enabling access to rights, schemes, and services for rural citizens. Through its departments and local bodies, the government has supported our community-level work and provided an enabling environment for people-centric development. We remain committed to working hand-in-hand with state institutions to advance the vision of a just, inclusive, and empowered Jharkhand

A Way Forward

As we move beyond the milestones of 2024–25, Veer Jharkhand Vikas Seva Manch remains deeply committed to its mission of empowering marginalized communities and ensuring inclusive development in rural Jharkhand. Our journey so far has reinforced our belief that lasting change is possible only when it is rooted in the participation and leadership of the people themselves. While we have made notable progress in areas such as menstrual hygiene management, food security, child well-being, and rights-based awareness, we recognize that the challenges ahead demand even greater collaboration, innovation, and perseverance. In the coming year, we aim to strengthen our ongoing programs while also identifying new opportunities to deepen our engagement with tribal, Dalit, and other underserved groups. We will continue to build the capacities of community leaders, youth, and women so they can drive local change and influence decision-making at the grassroots level. Our focus will also remain on forging stronger partnership with government departments, donors, and civil society networks—to scale proven interventions and co-create sustainable solutions. Additionally, we aspire to integrate more digital tools and participatory monitoring methods into our field processes to enhance transparency and accountability. Above all, we will continue to listen, learn, and evolve—guided by the voices, struggles, and hopes of the communities we serve. The path ahead is filled with both challenges and possibilities, and we are confident that with collective strength and shared purpose, Veer Jharkhand Vikas Seva Manch will continue to be a catalyst for transformation and justice.
